

Application for Registration

TWO-YEAR CURRENCY Requirement

CRTO applicants must meet a number of registration requirements including the two-year currency requirement. To meet this requirement applicants must:

- have graduated within the two years immediately preceding the application for registration; or
- have practised Respiratory Therapy within those two years.

From time-to-time the CRTO receives applications for registration from applicants who have been away from practising Respiratory Therapy for an extended period of time.

From a public interest perspective, it is essential that applicants for registration have current knowledge and level of skill required to practise safely and competently. Absence from the profession for a prolonged period of time may not only result in loss of clinical skills but also reduces exposure to new developments and evolving best practices. Because of significant changes in the field of Respiratory Therapy in recent years, individuals lacking recent Respiratory Therapy experience may require supervision, additional training and education. This is to ensure that current respiratory care standards and practices are known, understood and can be demonstrated. In some cases, applicants may be required to enroll in a full time Respiratory Therapy program to regain the currency of their Respiratory Therapy knowledge and skills.

Some applicants may need to complete the CRTO entry-to-practice competency assessment. The assessment process is based on the competencies listed in the National Competency Profile (NCP) and includes a structured interview as well as a clinical skills assessment.

Review Process

Applicants who do not meet the currency requirement are referred to a Registration Committee Panel for consideration. The Panel reviews these applications and looks for evidence that the applicants' knowledge and skills are current. The Panel then makes a decision on whether or not it's in the public interest to approve the application, or if the certificate of registration should be issued with terms, conditions or limitations.

When reviewing an application for registration, the Panel may take a number of factors into consideration, such as:

- 1. Time since last practice:
- 2. Nature and intensity of last practice;
- 3. Quality and quantity of efforts to maintain currency while not practicing;
- 4. The applicant's re-entry plan; and
- Results of an entry-to-practice assessment.

The following guide was developed to help applicants prepare a submission in support of their application for registration.
